SACAD Board Announces 2019 Annual Meeting Plans

The SACAD Board approved the recommendations of the Professional Development Committee for activities to occur at the 2019 Annual Meeting. The luncheon speaker will be Dr. Russell Lowery-Hart, President, Amarillo College. His presentation will be "Making Dramatic Increases in Retention and Graduation Rates." The presentation will also include discussions of closing achievement gaps for specific target populations.

The luncheon will be held on Sunday, December 8, 2019 from 11:30 am to 1:15 pm in Houston, Texas, the site of the SACSCOC annual meeting. Individuals interested in attending the luncheon should register for the SACAD luncheon through the SACSCOC registration process. Luncheon tickets are $35 per person.

In addition to the luncheon, SACAD will be holding a concurrent session with a panel of associate degree college administrators on Sunday afternoon after the luncheon.

More information will be forthcoming during the summer when final logistics are determined.

CURRENT MEMBERS RENEW MEMBERSHIP TODAY

The SACAD Board invites current members to renew their membership with SACAD. Institutional membership dues are $150.00. Dues notices will be mailed to all potential members on June 1, 2019. Dues may be paid by check or credit card.

Please contact Dr. George D. Edwards, Executive Secretary-Treasurer at gdedwards930@gmail.com, 606-424-8867, or see the SACAD website at www.sacad.org for more information.

FORMER SACAD PRESIDENT AND BOARD MEMBER ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT

President Gary A. McGaha announced he will retire June 30,2019 from Atlanta Metropolitan State College (AMSC), a position he has held since 2007. Dr. McGaha has worked in the University System of Georgia (USG) for more than 25 years. In addition to President, Dr. McGaha served as chair of the AM-SC's Social Sciences Division.

Dr. Gary A. McGaha

Dr. McGaha's career within USG also included serving as academic dean for the Dunwoody campus and the Alpharetta site of Georgia Perimeter College, now Perimeter College at Georgia State University.

Prior to his work with USG, McGaha worked at Kentucky State University and at Morehouse School of Medicine. Dr. McGaha holds a doctorate in political science from the University of Mississippi, a master's degree in political science from Bowling Green State University and a bachelor's degree in social science from Mississippi Valley State University.

Dr. McGaha served as a member of the SACTJC and SACAD Board of Directors from 2011 to 2016. He served as President in 2014 leading the organization through the constitutional name change to SACAD which was approved by the membership in December, 2014.

ACCS HOSTS FIRST STATEWIDE PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT DAY

More than 1,500 full-time faculty members from Alabama's 24 community colleges convened at Alabama State University on Wednesday, April 10, 2019 for the Alabama Community College System's (ACCS) inaugural statewide Professional Development Day.

As a part of the ACCS's continued effort to build a more unified and collaborative system of colleges, the event brought together ACCS instructors from across the state for a full day of discussions and collaboration focused on the community college student experience.

Professional development days occur at each of Alabama's community colleges within the calendar year. This marked the first in which each college was represented at a single, statewide event.

PSC RECEIVES $150,000 FROM GULF POWER FOUN-DATION FOR NONPROFIT TRAINING CENTER

The Gulf Power Foundation has pledged $150,000 to Pensacola State College to help establish training for nonprofit organization's professional staffs and boards. Gulf Power Foundation Board Chairman Wendell Smith presented the first installment of $30,000 to the College on Wednesday, December 5, 2018.

With this $150,000 gift, Gulf Power will exceed $680,000 in donations to the College over the past 51 years. Krieger said the first payment will be used to develop courses on:

- Funding diversification
- Board development
- Grant writing
- Comprehensive campaigns, and
- Donor-centered proposals and presentations.

Over the next five years, scholarships also will be provided for worthy students and qualifying nonprofit organizations.

PSC DESIGNATED A 2019 MILITARY FRIENDLY SCHOOL

Pensacola State College (PSC) has been named a 2019 Military Friendly® School by Viqtory Media. This is the 10th consecutive year PSC has received the designation awarded to U.S. colleges, universities and trade schools that dedicate resources to military students to ensure success in the classroom and after graduation. The College was named a "Military Friendly School – Bronze" recipient for the 2019-2020 academic year.

The 2019-2020 Military Friendly® Schools list was published in G.I. Jobs magazine's May edition. The list also can be found at www.militaryfriendly.com.

LOUISIANA

NEW CHANCELLOR NAMED FOR DELGADO COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Delgado Community College has appointed Dr. Larissa Littleton-Steib as its next chancellor, effective July 1, 2019. She will succeed Dr. Joan Davis, who stepped down from the position in August 2018, after four years to begin a new role as vice president of administration and policy of the Louisiana Community and Technical College System (LCTCS).

Dr. Littleton-Steib currently serves as chancellor of Baton Rouge Community College, a role she has held since 2016. Throughout her time at Baton Rouge, Littleton-Steib has initiated efforts that have improved student enrollment, advanced the community college's fiscal health and stability and furthered business and industry partnerships.

Dr. Larissa Littleton-Steib

With over 20 years of experience working education under her belt, Dr. Littleton-Steib has an extensive background in program development, grant writing and workforce development and training. She previously chaired the Delgado Community College Strategic Planning Committee and has managed over $22 million in state and federal funding to support the workforce goals of Delgado.

Before joining Baton Rouge, she served in several roles at Delgado, such as vice chancellor of workforce development and dean of technical education.

Dr. Littleton-Steib received a bachelor's degree and master's degree from Xavier University of Louisiana and a Ph.D. in urban higher education from Jackson State University.

UNPRECEDENTED APPRENTICESHIP PROGRAM AND PARTNERSHIP

Greater New Orleans, Inc. President CEO Michael Hecht was joined by representatives from three Greater New Orleans companies and three regional higher education institutions for the signing ceremony of the cooperation agreement between all parties for an innovative apprenticeship program for mechatronics. Representatives from Elmer Chocolate, Laitram, and Zatarain's pledged their commitment to train students alongside the Chancellors of Delgado Community College, Northshore Technical Community College, and Nunez Community College.

The ultimate goal of the program is to create an innovative, industry-driven approach to education that will bring in a new wave of talent to our workforce and cultivate skills for the future. GNO, Inc. believes this program has the potential to be utilized across the advanced manufacturing industry.

The specialization required involves mechatronics, an emerging, interdisciplinary branch of engineering that combines skills and knowledge in electrical and mechanical systems, electronics, robotics and control systems. Mechatronic workers are employed in many industrial environments, including energy, plastics, advanced manufacturing, and aerospace.

Once assigned to an employer, apprentices will earn a paycheck while learning on-the-job. Apprentices will alternate between eight weeks of classroom work and eight weeks at their chosen company for the duration of the program. Participants in the program will gain experience in a wide range of core competencies including motor controls, basic machining (mill, lathe, drilling, tapping, etc.), blueprint reading, functions of electrical and electronic systems, plus much more.

NORTH CAROLINA

BLADEN COMMUNITY COLLEGE CHOOSES NEW PRESIDENT

Dr. Amanda Lee assumed the position of president of Bladen Community College February 1, 2019. She is the college's fifth president and the first female to hold the position.

Dr. Lee was most recently chief of staff and vice president of Academic Affairs at Union College in Barbourville, Kentucky.

She succeeded Dr. William Findt, who announced plans to retire in 2018.

Dr. Lee has also been the president of Cape Fear Community College in Wilmington.

Dr. Lee earned a doctorate in communication arts from Regent University in Virginia Beach. Her master's in communication studies and her undergraduate degrees are from Baylor University.

Before her presidency at Cape Fear, she had responsibilities for planning the college's academic divisions including arts and sciences, technical and vocational education, continuing education and two learning resource centers. Dr. Lee has also worked at Nash Community College, the University of North Carolina at Wilmington, Texas A&M University and her alma mater, Baylor University.

NORTH CAROLINA COMMUNITY COLLEGE PRESI-DENT OF THE YEAR

Dr. Carol S. Spalding, president of Rowan -Cabarrus Community College, has been named President of the Year for 2019 by the North Carolina State Board of Community Colleges. She is the first leader in Rowan-Cabarrus history to receive the honor.

Dr. Carol Spalding

The President of the Year Award, sponsored by Wells Fargo, was established by the State Board in 2001. This award encourages, identifies, and rewards outstanding leadership and commitment to the community college mission among the presidents of the 58 institutions of the North Carolina Community College System.

Since becoming president in 2008, Spalding has built a reputation as a strong advocate for student success and the community college's role in developing North Carolina's workforce and economy. She has grown the College's continuing education and training programs, and facilitated a group of community leaders to align and leverage economic development efforts within Rowan County.

Led by Spalding's focus on student opportunities and community partnerships, Rowan-Cabarrus is at the forefront in workforce education and development. The College is North Carolina's leader in firefighter continuing education and certification, actively partners with government and industry to identify workforce needs and provide quality training; and is a National Center of Academic Excellence in Cyber Defense Two-Year Education, a prestigious designation from the National Security Agency and the U.S. Department of Homeland Security.

Additionally, under Spalding's leadership, the College has used technology to expand and improve services to students. These efforts have led to Rowan-Cabarrus being recognized four consecutive years as a Top Ten Digital Community College by the Center for Digital Education.

Dr. Carraway worked at LCC for 34 years. He earned his doctorate in Educational Leadership from East Carolina University where he also earned a masters of arts in educational administration and bachelor of science in health and human performance.

Dr. Carraway also served as dean of the continuing education division, associate dean of satellite campuses, associate dean of campuses the Greene County campus and director of the Greene County Center for LCC.

DR. SCOTT RALLS NAMED WAKE TECH PRESIDENT

Dr. Scott Ralls is the new president of Wake Technical Community College, effective May 2019. Dr. Ralls previously served as president of Northern Virginia Community College (NOVA), one of the largest and most internationally-diverse community colleges in the United States.

Dr. Scott Ralls

He has more than 20 years of experience in community colleges, including seven years as president of the NC Community College System, and has worked for the North Carolina Department of Commerce, the U.S. Department of Commerce, and the U.S. Department of Labor.

Dr. Ralls is Wake Tech's fourth president, succeeding Dr. Stephen Scott, who led the college for 15 years before his retirement in August.

At NOVA, Dr. Ralls created a new Information and Engineering Technology Division and led the construction of three new advanced training facilities. He helped grow NOVA's cybersecurity program into one of the largest and fastest growing in the nation, and established the first Cloud Computing associate degree program in the country, in collaboration with Amazon Web Services. He created a new workforce division at NOVA, fostering innovative relationships that included the first east coast apprenticeship program with Amazon Web Services. Dr. Ralls developed new articulation agreements with universities and engaged the NOVA community in developing a new strategic plan. He was named one of the Washington Region Power 100 Leaders by Washington Business Journal in 2017.

From 2008 to 2015, Dr. Ralls served as president of the NC Community College System, leading the state's 58 community colleges through a period of enrollment growth and budget challenges. Before that, he served as president of Craven Community College in New Bern. Dr. Ralls holds a bachelor's degree from UNC-Chapel Hill, and master's and doctorate degrees in Industrial and Organizational Psychology from the University of Maryland.

DR. RACHEL DESMARAIS CHOSEN AS NEXT PRESIDENT OF VGCC

Dr. Rachel M. Desmarais has been chosen as the next president of Vance-Granville Community College (VGCC). She became the seventh president in the 49-year history of the college.

SOUTH CAROLINA

RBC FOUNDATION AND THE HERITAGE CLASSIC FOUNDATION TEAM UP TO SUPPORT MECHA-TRONICS TRAINING ACROSS SOUTH CAROLINA'S TECHNICAL COLLEGES

In April, the RBC Foundation and the Heritage Classic Foundation announced a $300,000 commitment over the next three years for the SC Technical College System to support workforce development and skills training across the state. The news was shared at the 51st RBC Heritage Opening Ceremonies by Doug McGregor, Group Head, Capital Markets and Investor and Treasury Services, RBC.

The joint initiative will support Siemens Mechatronic System Certification Programs for faculty at South Carolina's technical colleges, helping expand the training and certification of these much-needed technicians across the state. This globally recognized certification program will allow for the training and preparation of skilled maintenance technicians for South Carolina's growing manufacturing sector.

Mechatronics is a multidisciplinary field of engineering that includes a combination of mechanical engineering technology, robotics, electronics, computer engineering, telecommunications engineering, systems engineering and control engineering. As manufacturing equipment becomes more automated and technologically advanced, demand continues to increase for highly-trained and highly-skilled mechatronic technicians. "Our goal at RBC is to empower young people with the skills they need to succeed in the jobs of tomorrow," said Doug McGregor, Group Head, Capital Markets and Investor and Treasury Services, RBC. "That's why we're thrilled to partner with the Heritage Classic Foundation on this new initiative that provides a pathway for students to leverage their skills and experiences and translate them into highdemand, local jobs."

The grant will fund the second level of faculty training in the Siemens certification program. The Siemens program provides comprehensive skills certification with a focus on system understanding, troubleshooting and problem-solving skills. It is renowned for producing well-grounded, trained individuals who can easily adapt to changing work situations quickly and appropriately.

The Siemens' certification is a standard used by many of South Carolina's well-known manufacturing companies including Boeing, BMW, Michelin and Bosch, among others.

"The SC Technical College System continuously collaborates with industry to best meet essential workforce needs. This partnership with the RBC Foundation and the Heritage Classic Foundation provides an excellent example of how our system strives to align our degrees and curriculum with community and industry needs," said Dr. Tim Hardee, SC Technical College System president.

"We look forward to working closely with our partners to train and prepare much-needed mechatronic technicians. Expansion of our offerings will help provide skilled workers who are so important to maintaining and supporting the technologically advanced equipment at manufacturing facilities across the state."

The Heritage Classic Foundation is the general tournament sponsor of South Carolina's only PGA TOUR event, the RBC Heritage Presented by Boeing. The mission of the Heritage Classic Foundation is to improve lives throughout the state of South Carolina.

"Funding the South Carolina Technical College mechatronics training program is twofold for us," said Heritage Classic Foundation Chairman Simon Fraser. "It helps further educate Palmetto State students by providing the necessary skills they require for meaningful work. It also creates a skilled workforce that is vital to the success of many of our corporate partners across the state."

PARTNERSHIP WITH THE SC PROPANE GAS ASSOCI-ATION WORKS TO INCREASE AWARENESS OF HVAC PROGRAMS ACROSS THE SYSTEM

The HVAC industry's labor shortage is growing at an exponential rate. This trend did not happen overnight but has been stirring across the nation for more than a decade. As more and more technicians reach retirement age, the need for skilled workers continues to grow. South Carolina is no exception.

In April, the SC Propane Gas Association announced its commitment to invest $50,000 in HVAC programs across the System. The commitment will allow for a train-the-trainer workshop for all HVAC instructors, a gas furnace and tankless water heater at each college and promotional funds to advertise HVAC programs and offerings across the state.

TENNESSEE

The enrollment in the 13 Tennessee Community Colleges has grown slightly since 2016 due to the TN Promise Scholarships for immediate high school graduates and the TN Reconnect Scholarships for independent students or adults who are 24 and older. The scholarships are funded by the TN Education Lottery.

Over the past ten years Tennessee Community Colleges have achieved an 82% increase in the number of degrees and certificates awarded. In 2009 there were 8370 awards compared to 15,240 awards in 2018. Some students earn more than one award such as a certificate and a degree. In 2018 14,024 students earned 15,240 awards. In TN all of the community colleges are trying to improve on the statistic that only 1 in 4 First Time, Full Time Freshmen graduate in 3 years. Our goal is for 14,895 students to produce 16,086 awards by 2025 to meet the goal set by Governor Bill Haslam in 2013 when he launched his Drive to 55 initiative. The goal is to have 55% of the workforce earning at least one postsecondary credential by 2025.

In 2019 all 13 TN Community Colleges will be engaged in the Achieving the Dream network. This network focuses on helping colleges close the equity gaps in course grades and to improve retention/success rates. Various high impact practices are being used such as learning communities, co-requisite model with learning support courses, increased professional development opportunities for full-time and adjunct faculty, internships, international study, improved advising and wrap around services.

Dual enrollment opportunities will improve for high school students in TN when the Governor's Initiative for Vocational Education (GIVE) Act is implemented in the fall of 2020. Courses offered under GIVE must meet the needs of the top ten employment areas in the State of TN. There will be no tuition charged to high school students who are studying courses related to earning a degree which address a top workforce need. The tuition will be paid by the TN Lottery. GIVE was sponsored by newly elected Governor Bill Lee.

TEXAS

GRAYSON COLLEGE NAMED ACHIEVING THE DREAM LEADER COLLEGE

Grayson College was recently named one of six community colleges to become an Achieving the Dream Leader College. This distinction is bestowed upon colleges who have made measurable progress toward improving student outcomes over a three-year period.

GC has participated in Achieving the Dream, a national reform networks focused on discovering innovative solutions and effective practices and policies leading to improved outcomes for all students, since 2014. Over 220 colleges participate as members of this national network of community colleges.

The eight-week format allows for a more focused effort in fewer courses while encouraging deeper relationships to emerge between students and faculty. The college's course completion results from the fall 2018 term were up four percent over the prior year, which was already at a 20year high.

HILL COLLEGE AMONG TOP 10 FINALISTS FOR BELL-WETHER AWARD

Hill College was recently selected as a top 10 Bellwether Awards finalist from more than a 1,000 entries from across the nation.

The Bellwether Awards recognize community colleges for excellence and innovation in one of three categories: instructional programs and services; workforce development; and planning, governance and finance.

The Burleson Opportunity Fund initiative was nominated by Hill College President Dr. Pam Boehm and was selected as a finalist in the planning, governance, and finance category. Dr. Boehm, along with Burleson Mayor Ken Shetter and Hill College Executive Director of Community Relations Nancy Holland presented at the Community College Futures Assembly.

The Burleson Opportunity Fund is a scholarship program open to all high school graduates who live or attend school in Burleson.

VIRGINIA

NEW PRESIDENT NAMED FOR DANVILLE COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Dr. Glenn DuBois, chancellor of Virginia's Community Colleges, announced recently that Dr. Jacqueline M. Gill, currently of Lee's Summit, Missouri, has been hired as the next permanent president of Danville Community College. She will assume the role at the beginning of July, 2019.

Dr. Jacqueline M. Gill

Dr. Gill has worked in higher education for more than 20 years. She began her career as the director of continuing education for the NE Campus of Tarrant County College in Hurst, Texas. In 2010, she became the college's vice president of Academic Affairs & Community & Industry Education.

Dr. Gill moved to Kansas City, Missouri in 2016 where she became the president of Metropolitan Community College. Prior to working in higher education, she worked for seven years as a social worker in the greater Dallas Fort Worth metropolitan area, including two years of recruiting candidates from underserved populations into healthcare career fields for the Dallas Fort Worth Area Health Education Center in Irving, Texas.

Dr. Gill earned a doctorate, master's degree and bachelor's degree from Texas A&M University, and a separate master's degree from the University of Texas at Arlington.

Dr. Gill succeeds Dr. Bruce Scism, the college's fifth president.

SOUTHSIDE VIRGINIA COMMUNITY COLLEGE NAMES NEW PRESIDENT

Dr. Glenn DuBois, chancellor of Virginia's Community Colleges, named Dr. Quentin R. Johnson, currently of Mooresville, North Carolina, as the next president of Southside Virginia Community College. He will assume the role at the beginning of July, 2019.

Dr. Quentin R. Johnson

Dr. Johnson has worked in higher education senior leadership roles for more than 20 years. That includes, beginning in 2004, serving as the president's chief of staff and acting vice president for Student Life and Enrollment Management at the University of Maryland Eastern Shore. In 2011, he became senior vice president for Enrollment and Student Services at Fairmont State University and Pierpont Community and Technical College in West Virginia.

Dr. Johnson moved to Guilford Technical Community College in North Carolina in 2012 to become the vice president of Student Support Services, the position he holds today. He also has some Virginia experience, previously serving as the assistant dean for Enrollment Management & Student Services at the UVa School of Nursing.

Dr. Johnson earned a doctorate from the University of Maryland Eastern Shore; a master's degree from Bowling Green State University; and a bachelor's degree from Defiance College in Defiance, Ohio.

Dr. Johnson will succeed Dr. Al Roberts, the college's fifth president.

NEW PRESIDENT NAMED FOR RAPPAHANNOCK COM-MUNITY COLLEGE

Dr. Glenn DuBois, the chancellor of Virginia's Community Colleges announced the selection of Dr. Shannon L. Kennedy, currently of Shelby, North Carolina as the next president of Rappahannock Community College.

Dr. Kennedy has nearly 25 years of higher education experience and is a former television journalist.

Dr. Shannon L. Kennedy

She began her career at Gardner-Webb University, in Boiling Springs, North Carolina, in 1996 as a public relations assistant. She later worked at the college as an adjunct English professor and director of Foundation and Corporate Relations.

In 2000, Dr. Kennedy moved to Cleveland Community College, in Shelby, North Carolina to become the director of public relations and grants development. There, Dr. Kennedy was promoted several times to positions including associate dean, dean, executive vice president of Instruction and Student Development, and to executive vice president – the position in which she currently works.

Further, she has served as an on-site reaffirmation committee member of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACS-COC) for eight institutions over the past seven years. Kennedy earned a bachelor's degree from Millersville University in Pennsylvania; a master's degree from Appalachian State University; and a doctorate from North Carolina State University.

Dr. Kennedy will succeed Dr. Sissy Crowther, the college's third president, who announced last fall that she is retiring at
